Basketball concessions have started and are going well. We are trying pizza from May's Deli and thus far it has been well received along with the other items that we have available. Due to the lack of Friday night games, we are currently only serving pizza and hot dogs.

The 5th and 6th grade basketball tournament went extremely well for our first attempt at this type of function. We need to assess what we had available as well as being able to accommodate everyone as they arrive (need more pre-planning). Parents stepped forward to make soups, chili, salads and other items that helped to make this event a success. Many parents of visiting schools asked if we would consider having more tournaments and had positive comments about what was available and how the tournament was run. As always, there is a need to involve more parents to provide continued support for these types of events to be successful.

We currently have a display of apparel set up in a case outside the cafeteria with order forms available in the elementary, middle and high schools. All orders received by December 14 will be ready before Christmas. The Jock Shop has provided the items that we had discussed for our display as well as the current items that we have available for sale.

We are working with the Sophomore Class with a fundraiser—“Live like royalty” where for $1.00 you have a chance to win the “seat of honor”. We have purchased a leather lazyboy recliner to sit on the gym floor and give the lucky winner a chance to watch the game from the recliner, have dinner on the Thunderbird club, and a drink. The tickets are being sold by sophomore students, with one of the advisors present, at all the home games to draw the winner to sit in the chair at the next home game. We may see more sales as more people become aware of what they can win.

Becky Luba from Youth Wrestling would like to meet with the club regarding help with concessions sales that Youth Wrestling provides at their wrestling matches. She is new and needs guidance as to where to go with this. Unfortunately, she had a prior commitment and could not attend tonight.

A student in the TV Production class would like to prepare a commercial to promote Thunderbird Club apparel to be broadcast on access channel 5. The club would like to review the commercial if possible prior to it being aired.

Meeting adjourned at 8:00 p.m.

Next meeting: January 2, 2008 at 7 p.m.
